Bonnie Roberts Jones at Groia & Company P.C., is joining the 8:10 a.m. Plaintiffs Placing Themselves in Harm's Way panel discussion today. Ms. Jones is a senior lawyer whose practice encompasses a wide range of complex litigation and arbitration matters, including class actions, securities litigation, corporate, shareholder and contractual disputes, cross-border litigation, libel and slander, and the complex end of employment litigation and injunctions.

Prof. Anthony Sebox at Cardozo School of Law will join the 11:30 a.m. Litigation Finance panel discussion today. Professor Sebox is an expert on mass torts, litigation finance, comparative tort law, and legal philosophy.

Randi Roth at Complex Settlements, P.C., is unable to join the 4:00 p.m. Alternative Dispute Resolution panel today.

Andrew Karron at Reisman Karron Greene LLP will be joining the 4:00 p.m. Alternative Dispute Resolution panel today. Mr. Karron is a trial and appellate litigator with broad experience in handling complex litigation at trial, on appeal, and in settlement negotiations. Mr. Karron joined in founding RKG after 20 years as a litigation partner of an AmLaw 100 international law firm. He has handled matters involving a wide variety of industries, including accounting and professional services, aerospace, agribusiness, airlines, banking and finance, biotechnology, computer hardware and software, e-commerce, insurance, oil and gas, medical devices, photocopying, private equity, publishing, real estate (partnerships and real estate investment trusts), and telecommunications. Mr. Karron's practice has focused primarily on (i) negotiating mass tort settlements, including product liability matters and economic torts, with leading members of the plaintiffs' bar; (ii) complex financial and business litigation, including class action securities fraud and shareholder derivative litigation, professional liability, negligence, and breach of fiduciary duty litigation; and (iii) defending against investigations and enforcement actions by the SEC, PCAOB, and other regulators, and constitutional and other challenges to government action.
