As Vice President of Diversity & Inclusion, I am responsible for executing GCG's diversity and inclusion vision by working with GCG's Executive, Legal, Human Resources, Marketing, Business Development and Vendor Management teams to create and launch company-wide programs and initiatives that focus on innovation, performance, and business growth.

After starting as a claims processor at GCG 25 years ago, I have advanced through several pivotal roles within the company and have served as a member of GCG's senior management team since 2007. I led GCG's class action team in its Lake Success, New York, headquarters for more than a decade, and went on to manage the Midwest call and processing center in Dublin, Ohio. I later managed the company's Louisiana Operations Facility. I was instrumental in the launch of GCG ICE™, the company's proprietary website for the filing of electronic securities claims, and in the launch of GCG's proprietary project management and claim processing system in 2014. Having led hundreds of case administrations, I have worked on some of the largest and most complex settlements of all time, including the Deepwater Horizon Economic Settlement Program, WorldCom Securities Litigation Settlement, Royal Ahold Securities Litigation Settlement, Nortel Networks Corp. Securities Litigation Settlement.
